

THE PRINCE CHARLES HOSPITAL'S Giving Day

*Join us as a
corporate partner*

From head injuries, respiratory problems and fevers to viruses and broken bones, no matter what time of day or night, there's comfort knowing that your local emergency department is there for you and your family.

On Wednesday, October 23, The Common Good will hold a locally-focussed Giving Day. All funds raised will support the Children's Emergency Department and Paediatrics Ward at The Prince Charles Hospital.

You may know that The Prince Charles Hospital is one of Australia's leading heart and lung hospitals, but did you know that it is one of Queensland's busiest Children's Emergency Departments? On average, there are 35,000 visits to the Children's Emergency Department each year, where children receive the care and comfort they need during medical emergencies.

That's over 35,000 times that kids and families needed the help of The Prince Charles Hospital in Chermside. Some were local, and some came from afar, but at the heart of each visit was a child who needed help and medical attention.

Every year, tens of thousands of children and their families experience a distressing – or in some cases life-threatening – illness, injury or condition, and rely on the compassionate, caring and qualified medical staff of The Prince Charles Hospital to help.

Like you, we believe that every single one of these children deserves the best chance at a comprehensive and fast diagnosis, effective treatment, and a comfortable care environment.

This Giving Day has a specific target. We must raise at least $150,000 to fund the immediate needs of the Children's Emergency Department and Paediatrics Ward. Through Giving Day, you have the opportunity to make the greatest impact for our hospital's littlest and arguably most vulnerable patients.

From babies, to toddlers and teenagers, every dollar raised will contribute to identified projects of need that enhance the stay of our kids – no matter how short or long.

We are calling for matched funding partners who will take the lead in this appeal and enable an initiative to double donations from the public, ultimately doubling the difference we can make for local sick and injured children in their time of need.

Can you help our sick and injured kids this Giving Day?

For more information please contact:

Chloe.Nguyen@tpchfoundation.org.au

  @thecommongoodau | thecommongood.org.au

THE COMMON GOOD

AN INITIATIVE OF THE PRINCE CHARLES HOSPITAL FOUNDATION

THE PRINCE CHARLES HOSPITAL'S Giving Day

*Join us as a
corporate partner*

From head injuries, respiratory problems and fevers to viruses and broken bones, no matter what time of day or night, there's comfort knowing that your local emergency department is there for you and your family.

On Wednesday, October 23, The Common Good will hold a locally-focussed Giving Day. All funds raised will support the Children's Emergency Department and Paediatrics Ward at The Prince Charles Hospital.

You may know that The Prince Charles Hospital is one of Australia's leading heart and lung hospitals, but did you know that it is one of Queensland's busiest Children's Emergency Departments? On average, there are 35,000 visits to the Children's Emergency Department each year, where children receive the care and comfort they need during medical emergencies.

That's over 35,000 times that kids and families needed the help of The Prince Charles Hospital in Chermside. Some were local, and some came from afar, but at the heart of each visit was a child who needed help and medical attention.

Every year, tens of thousands of children and their families experience a distressing – or in some cases life-threatening – illness, injury or condition, and rely on the compassionate, caring and qualified medical staff of The Prince Charles Hospital to help.

Like you, we believe that every single one of these children deserves the best chance at a comprehensive and fast diagnosis, effective treatment, and a comfortable care environment.

This Giving Day has a specific target. We must raise at least $150,000 to fund the immediate needs of the Children's Emergency Department and Paediatrics Ward. Through Giving Day, you have the opportunity to make the greatest impact for our hospital's littlest and arguably most vulnerable patients.

From babies, to toddlers and teenagers, every dollar raised will contribute to identified projects of need that enhance the stay of our kids – no matter how short or long.

We are calling for matched funding partners who will take the lead in this appeal and enable an initiative to double donations from the public, ultimately doubling the difference we can make for local sick and injured children in their time of need.

Can you help our sick and injured kids this Giving Day?

For more information please contact:

Grant.Nibbs@tpchfoundation.org.au

  @thecommongoodau | thecommongood.org.au

THE COMMON GOOD

AN INITIATIVE OF THE PRINCE CHARLES HOSPITAL FOUNDATION

THE PRINCE CHARLES HOSPITAL'S Giving Day

*Join us as a
corporate partner*

From head injuries, respiratory problems and fevers to viruses and broken bones, no matter what time of day or night, there's comfort knowing that your local emergency department is there for you and your family.

On Wednesday, October 23, The Common Good will hold a locally-focussed Giving Day. All funds raised will support the Children's Emergency Department and Paediatrics Ward at The Prince Charles Hospital.

You may know that The Prince Charles Hospital is one of Australia's leading heart and lung hospitals, but did you know that it is one of Queensland's busiest Children's Emergency Departments? On average, there are 35,000 visits to the Children's Emergency Department each year, where children receive the care and comfort they need during medical emergencies.

That's over 35,000 times that kids and families needed the help of The Prince Charles Hospital in Chermside. Some were local, and some came from afar, but at the heart of each visit was a child who needed help and medical attention.

Every year, tens of thousands of children and their families experience a distressing – or in some cases life-threatening – illness, injury or condition, and rely on the compassionate, caring and qualified medical staff of The Prince Charles Hospital to help.

Like you, we believe that every single one of these children deserves the best chance at a comprehensive and fast diagnosis, effective treatment, and a comfortable care environment.

This Giving Day has a specific target. We must raise at least $150,000 to fund the immediate needs of the Children's Emergency Department and Paediatrics Ward. Through Giving Day, you have the opportunity to make the greatest impact for our hospital's littlest and arguably most vulnerable patients.

From babies, to toddlers and teenagers, every dollar raised will contribute to identified projects of need that enhance the stay of our kids – no matter how short or long.

We are calling for matched funding partners who will take the lead in this appeal and enable an initiative to double donations from the public, ultimately doubling the difference we can make for local sick and injured children in their time of need.

Can you help our sick and injured kids this Giving Day?

For more information please contact:

Georgina.Randall@tpchfoundation.org.au

  @thecommongoodau | thecommongood.org.au

THE COMMON GOOD

AN INITIATIVE OF THE PRINCE CHARLES HOSPITAL FOUNDATION

THE PRINCE CHARLES HOSPITAL'S Giving Day

*Join us as a
corporate partner*

From head injuries, respiratory problems and fevers to viruses and broken bones, no matter what time of day or night, there's comfort knowing that your local emergency department is there for you and your family.

On Wednesday, October 23, The Common Good will hold a locally-focussed Giving Day. All funds raised will support the Children's Emergency Department and Paediatrics Ward at The Prince Charles Hospital.

You may know that The Prince Charles Hospital is one of Australia's leading heart and lung hospitals, but did you know that it is one of Queensland's busiest Children's Emergency Departments? On average, there are 35,000 visits to the Children's Emergency Department each year, where children receive the care and comfort they need during medical emergencies.

That's over 35,000 times that kids and families needed the help of The Prince Charles Hospital in Chermside. Some were local, and some came from afar, but at the heart of each visit was a child who needed help and medical attention.

Every year, tens of thousands of children and their families experience a distressing – or in some cases life-threatening – illness, injury or condition, and rely on the compassionate, caring and qualified medical staff of The Prince Charles Hospital to help.

Like you, we believe that every single one of these children deserves the best chance at a comprehensive and fast diagnosis, effective treatment, and a comfortable care environment.

This Giving Day has a specific target. We must raise at least $150,000 to fund the immediate needs of the Children's Emergency Department and Paediatrics Ward. Through Giving Day, you have the opportunity to make the greatest impact for our hospital's littlest and arguably most vulnerable patients.

From babies, to toddlers and teenagers, every dollar raised will contribute to identified projects of need that enhance the stay of our kids – no matter how short or long.

We are calling for matched funding partners who will take the lead in this appeal and enable an initiative to double donations from the public, ultimately doubling the difference we can make for local sick and injured children in their time of need.

Can you help our sick and injured kids this Giving Day?

For more information please contact:

Jason.Medok@tpchfoundation.org.au

  @thecommongoodau | thecommongood.org.au

THE COMMON GOOD

AN INITIATIVE OF THE PRINCE CHARLES HOSPITAL FOUNDATION